

Storage Optimizer for Microsoft 365

TECH-ARROW's Storage Optimizer offers your organization an intelligent insight into and overview of your Microsoft 365 suite's storage. Ensure you maintain full control of your data! With Storage Optimizer, you have a unique opportunity to see a high-level overview of your storage across the whole Microsoft 365 spectrum all in one place and make decisions regarding how best you can save space and costs.

Analyze and Optimize your

Microsoft 365

Key features

Complex overview of data structures

See your data structures like never before. The Storage Optimizer lays out a series of graphs and charts that give you insight into data in your SharePoint sites, Teams and OneDrive, including percentage taken up by different data types.

Actionable optimization

Storage Optimizer uses a number of presets to determine different strategies for offloading your data by moving excess files and items into archives and other long-term solutions, based on three separate archiving strategies. Bring data overflow under control without sacrificing accessibility or productivity!

Cost reduction through data cleanup

See how much you could be saving on overflow and overhead! Companies pay for excess storage taken up by document versioning and other similar sources of bloat. With Storage Optimizer, directly filter and remove unwanted legacy data!

Benefits

Clean up your data

The ultimate solution to cluttered SharePoint sites and skyrocketing data overflow fees! Clean up your data with Storage Optimizer's powerful cleanup feature. Free up space with just one click, while using the intelligent filtering options to ensure you're only cleaning up unneeded legacy data.

Insight into your Microsoft 365

Choose which SharePoint sites to analyze, as well as Microsoft Teams and any data stored in OneDrive. Exercise complete control over which sites and programs will be analyzed, and get insights from individual substructures to your complete data.

Reduced storage

Reduce your data load and storage volumes, lightening SharePoint and making it more responsive. Avoid incurring Microsoft's excess storage costs and ensure a more optimal data structure for your organization. Use Storage Optimizer's report to identify what to remove.

Entirely self-enclosed

Analyze your data and make use of the results without any concerns about data leaking. Our tool is an entirely local download! Make use of the analyses and resulting outputs stress-free, and keep your critical internal data enclosed to your organization.

Complete overview of data

See all your relevant statistics and current data structures in one place, including information difficult to locate or not natively displayed by SharePoint. Give decisionmakers access to the information they need!

Get your costs under control!

Actionable advice following one of three offloading strategies lets you see your potential cost savings and make informed decisions whether to offload into a long-term storage solution, or to clean up and permanently remove this excess data.
